

Freedman Consulting, LLC: Director, Policy Impact Remote

Freedman Consulting, LLC, a strategic consulting firm, seeks an experienced manager to direct efforts and coordinate projects focused on policy change and political impact. Work will include strategic advising and planning, policy development, and stakeholder coordination for specific clients seeking to have a deeper impact on the political and policy process.

The Policy Impact Director will take on a broad portfolio of issues, working at the intersection of policy, strategy, communications, and politics, joining a growing consulting team to advance innovations for the greater social good. The role will work closely with firm leadership, clients, and other consulting partners, planning and coordinating multiple strategic lines of work and executing on high-level deliverable development, while being accountable for client goals, timelines, and work quality and distribution.

Freedman Consulting, LLC, located in Washington, DC and Bay Area, California*, offers strategic consulting services to foundations, nonprofit organizations, public interest coalitions, and other impact-oriented funders, partnering with many of the nation's leading philanthropic institutions. Our work includes strategic planning and issue landscaping for major foundations, campaign advising and coordination for coalitions, and policy development and strategy for a variety of advocacy and political campaigns. Note: Freedman Consulting, LLC, does not lobby.

Primary responsibilities for the Policy Impact Director will include:

- Developing and managing project strategies and work plans for client projects related to policy and political impact or similar needs
- Leading rapid and ongoing communication and strategic coordination efforts with firm leadership and client representatives on sensitive issues related to client impact goals
- Providing strategic guidance and management on client priorities
- Directing and/or organizing client interactions, including facilitating meetings, calls, and presentations
- Conceptualizing, drafting, and editing a variety of client-facing memos, presentations, and briefs
- Managing and supervising lines of work and associate-level staff
- Assisting in the professional development of firm staff

Qualifications of the Ideal Candidate:

At least 10 years of previous campaign, policy, legislative, consulting, and/or communications experience is expected. Previous experience with issues involving U.S. democracy, climate sustainability, and/or economic development are a plus.

Applicants must possess a deep understanding of federal policy process, excellent project management capabilities, problem solving acumen, strong presentation and facilitation skills, and the ability to think through complex political/advocacy campaign strategy and policy issues critically and strategically. Salary and benefits are competitive and commensurate with experience.
